

NVT Network is a decentralized platform for listing and assessing the network value of products that helps product manufacturing companies or creators better align with the interests of their users. It does this by rewarding product creators more for their work, by letting users earn money for predicting popular products, by making it easier to discover high quality products and by allowing all users to be part of the product review and decision taking process.